Abstract: *
The Mema method was developed with the purpose of enabling young children to develop logical thinking in an accessible way. Using this method, children can understand through play how a computer works, what a program is, and even write their first programs themselves. But apart from that basic purpose, the Mema method seems to have some other potentials. The Mema method, additionally supplemented, promises possibilities that go beyond the framework of programming and informatics. Teaching programming using Mema method could cause some attendant benefits, as having a positive effect on the teaching of mathematics, the development of fine motor skills and positive effects on art education. In some way the Mema method could contribute to the teaching of the mother tongue, the development of subjects as nature and society and the development of teaching English as a foreign language. The paper gives guidelines on how to use the Mema method in the lower grades of elementary school to connect subjects with each other.

Step 2: Checking for Funder Mandates

IEEE understands that certain funders may have specific requirements that authors must adhere to remain eligible for funding. In order to assist you in meeting these requirements, please indicate below if your paper has been funded in part by an organization that carries a grant-based mandate.

If your work has been funded by an organization on the list below, please select it (if you select one of the funders listed you will receive additional instructions on steps needed to fulfill your requirements. If your funder is not on the list, please select "My work was not funded by an organization on the list")

What is a funder or research mandate?

Funders often require that grantees make their peer-reviewed publications publicly available, usually by posting a pre-print of the work within a sanctioned repository.

IEEE has partnered with a selection of funders to assist with the process by providing authors instructions based on their specific mandate.

Employment status = copyright status

An author's copyright status is determined to a large extent by the type of employer for whom the author works. For example, if you are employed by the U.S. Government, and you are the sole author of your paper, then you should select "Employed by United States Government."

Similarly, if you are the sole author and you are employed by a Crown Government (or if you and all your coauthors are Crown Government employees), then copyright to your paper will remain with the Crown Government. You should select "Employed by a Crown Government."

AUTHOR RESPONSIBILITIES

The IEEE distributes its technical publications throughout the world and wants to ensure that the material submitted to its publications is properly available to the readership of these publications. Authors must ensure that their Work meets the requirements as stated in section 8.2.1 of the IEEE PSPB Operations Manual, including your own copyright, originality, authorship, author responsibilities and author misconduct. More information is available at: http://www.ieee.org/publications_standards/publications/rights/authorrightsresponsibilities.html. Authors are advised especially of IEEE PSPB Operations Manual section 8.2.1.B12: "It is the responsibility of the authors, not the IEEE, to determine whether disclosure of their material requires the prior consent of other parties and, if so, to obtain it." and of section 8.1.1B: "Statements and opinions given in work published by the IEEE are the expression of the authors."

RETAINED RIGHTS/TERMS AND CONDITIONS

- Authors/employers retain all proprietary rights in any process, procedure, or article of manufacture described in the Work.
- Authors/employers may reproduce or authorize others to reproduce the Work, material extracted verbatim from the Work, or derivative works for the author's personal use or for company use, provided that the source and the IEEE copyright notice are indicated, the copies are not used in any way that implies IEEE endorsement of a product or service of any employer, and the copies themselves are not offered for sale.
- Although authors are permitted to re-use all or portions of the Work in other works, this does not include granting third-party requests for reprinting, republishing, or other types of re-use. The IEEE Intellectual Property Rights office must handle all such third-party requests.
- Authors whose work was performed under a grant from a government funding agency are free to fulfill any deposit mandates from that funding agency.

AUTHOR ONLINE USE

- Personal Servers. Authors and/or their employers shall have the right to post the accepted version of IEEE-copyrighted articles on their own personal servers or the servers of their institutions or employers without permission from IEEE, provided that the posted version includes a prominently displayed IEEE copyright notice and, when published, a full citation to the original IEEE publication, including a link to the article abstract in IEEE Xplore. Authors shall not post the final, published versions of their papers.
- Classroom or Internal Training Use. An author is expressly permitted to post any portion of the accepted version of his/her own IEEE-copyrighted articles on the author's personal web site or the servers of the author's institution or company in connection with the author's teaching, training, or work responsibilities, provided that the appropriate copyright, credit, and reuse notices appear prominently with the posted material. Examples of permitted uses are lecture materials, course packs, e-reserves, conference presentations, or in-house training courses.

- Electronic Preprints. Before submitting an article to an IEEE publication, authors frequently post their manuscripts to their own web site, their employer's site, or to another server that invites constructive comment from colleagues. Upon submission of an article to IEEE, an author is required to transfer copyright in the article to IEEE, and the author must update any previously posted version of the article with a prominently displayed IEEE copyright notice. Upon publication of an article by the IEEE, the author must replace any previously posted electronic versions of the article with either (1) the full citation to the IEEE work with a Digital Object Identifier (DOI) or link to the article abstract in IEEE Xplore, or (2) the accepted version only (not the IEEE-published version), including the IEEE copyright notice and full citation, with a link to the final, published article in IEEE Xplore.
